

A Message from the Minnesota Concrete Pipe Association, MnCPA

We would like to take this opportunity to introduce you to the Minnesota Concrete Pipe Association, MnCPA. The association was formed in 1997 with the goal to provide a unified professional resource to the engineering community and to promote the benefits of specifying concrete pipe. The MnCPA is comprised of Cretex Products North, Inc., Hanson Pipe and Products, Inc., Hancock Concrete Products, Inc., and Royal Concrete Pipe, Inc. We are here to serve you and we welcome all questions and comments about the precast concrete pipe industry.

In the future, we intend to ask you for feedback on how we are doing as an industry. We want to learn how we can serve you better as well as what our strengths and weaknesses may be. The point is to begin a dialogue between you and the industry, so we can learn what your needs are and fulfill those needs. We believe this will promote success and confidence in the projects you design and deliver to your clients.

We thank the engineering firms who invited us into their offices this past winter to share our presentations about concrete pipe. We appreciate your time and your questions. To those engineering firms interested in having the MnCPA come to your office for a presentation, please contact any of the member companies and we would be happy to schedule a time.
